NO PRECINCT CONVENTIONS.

The anti-prohibition conventions to have been held at the court house and city hall today, to elect delegates to the county convention, to be held at the court house Monday, were called off on account of the resignation of Bryan T. Barry, the State chairman, and on account of the State convention at Port Worth being called off. It could not be learned this afternoon whether conventions were held in any other precincts in the county or not.

A TREAT FOR HER.

"Supposing I give you your supper," said the tired looking woman, "what will you do to earn it?"
"Madam," said Meandering Mike, "I'll give you de opportunity of seeing a man go t'roo a whole meal wit'out findin' fault wit' a single ting."
The woman thought for a moment, and then she told him to come in and she'd set the table.—New York World.

DAN RUSSELL AND HIS MATINEE GIRLS

Discriminating patrons of the theatre and those enjoying a happy combination of music and frolic will have an opportunity of satisfying their desires along this line next week, when the Matinee Girl Musical Comedy Company will be here.

The company is now in its sixth and most successful season, for everywhere that the organization has appeared its work has received the highest praise.

Composed of a bevy of beautiful maidens and an insuperable cast, with a musicality that is built distinctly along fun lines, they have succeeded in winning the grace of all the audiences by furnishing an entertainment that is unparalleled.

A prominent feature of the show is the elegant and tasty costuming of the principals and the quaint conceits furnished the chorus.

The engagement of this company is something out of the ordinary and one that should not be missed.

Popular prices, 25c, 35c and 50c.

"WITHIN THE LAW."

"A girl cannot be paid at the rate of $7 a week and dress at the rate of $12 without getting the extra five from somewhere," opined the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst in a recent editorial, written as the result of a visit to the Eltinge Theatre, New York City, where the eminent clergyman saw and was greatly impressed by "Within the Law," Bayard Veiller's melodrama of modern conditions in New York life. Dr. Parkhurst's editorial was published in the New York Evening Journal and contained more than one paragraph of scathing denunciation addressed to the great employers of department stores who underpay their shop girls and thus drive them into various kinds of temptations. "These proprietors," declares the clergyman, "instead of interesting themselves in the girls' behalf, squeeze their wages down to the lowest figure and let them go to the devil for enough more to keep themselves out of the poorhouse or the grave." "Within the Law" tells the story of a New York shop girl employed in a department store at a pitiful wage. Mary Turner, unjustly accused of theft, seeks revenge after her release from prison by consorting with a gang of crooks and preying upon society. Mary is a girl of superior intelligence and so she is wise enough to keep "within the law." How she obtains revenge upon the hard-hearted employer makes up the interest of the four-act play, which presents many amusing and strongly drawn characters beside that of Mary Turner. There are Joe Carson, the lovable forger, and little Aggie Lynch, the blackmailer, who is so amusing that the audience forgives her wickedness, and Mr. Gilder, the stern employer, and Dick, his jolly son, whom Mary manages to captivate, and not forgetting English Eddie Griggs, the stoop-pigeon, Cassidy, the detective, Inspector Burke and Helen Morris, the real thief. Manager de Maret of the Colonial Theatre has secured Mr. Veiller's smashing melodrama as an attraction for his house, and it will be given here soon, affording Bryan theatre goers an opportunity to see what is undoubtedly the greatest dramatic sensation produced in America in fifty years, a play as far reaching in its results as was Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" before the war.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES ELECTION.

Today was the day set aside for the election of the county school trustees and county district school trustees. There are twenty-eight common school districts in the county, and three trustees were elected for each district. Bryan is in one of the independent school districts, and as there was no opposition to Prof. R. O. Allen, H. P. Dansby and W. E. Graham, the present county trustees, it was not thought to be necessary to hold an election for these trustees in this district, but they were voted on in all the other district elections and were re-elected to their present positions. This election does not come through the county superintendent, as many think, but is under the direction of the commissioners' court, who appointed the judges to hold these elections at their February session.

County Superintendent Parker reports that a special examination for teachers' certificates was held yesterday and today, there being seven applicants for State certificates.
